Recommendation Number	Recommendation	Accepted (A) Accepted with Modification (AM) Rejected (R).	Inspectorate Assessment of the Progress of the Recommendation
Introduction 1.	The Inspectorate recommends that the Department of Justice and Equality establish and task a criminal justice service group, comprised of the agencies and stakeholders that are responsible for community safety in Ireland, with overseeing the implementation of all of the recommendations accepted from this report.	A	This is part of the action plan for implementation of the report of the Commission of the Future of Policing in Ireland and will be subject to further monitoring.
1.1	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops and implements a crime prevention strategy that articulates how garda resources will be used to prevent crime.	A	Implemented
1.2	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána agrees a protocol with local authorities to ensure that major development planning applications are reviewed by crime prevention officers trained in environmental design.	A	No specific action has been taken to address this recommendation and the Garda Síochána has assessed it as closed. As the recommendation has not been addressed and due to the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring.
1.3	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a Standard Operating Procedure for the use of crime prevention officers to reduce offending opportunities. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: - Review the need to deploy sergeants and sworn members as crime prevention officers.	A	Implemented
1.4	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána National Crime Prevention Unit provides central co-ordination and support to crime prevention officers activity to ensure consistency of deployment.	A	Implemented

Implementation Update of the Recommendations Contained in the Tenth Report of the Garda Síochána Inspectorate Crime Investigation

1.5	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a national standard for conducting crime surveys and providing crime prevention literature.  To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Create a national standard crime prevention pack for Garda Síochána priority crime victims;</li> <li>- Ensure that all gardaí are trained to an appropriate level to conduct an effective crime prevention survey;</li> <li>- Ensure that surveys for businesses are monitored and checked for compliance and crime outcomes.</li> </ul>	A	Due to the absence of specific action to address the recommendation and the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring
1.6	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána reviews the process for providing information to Text Alert schemes and explores options for enhancing the information that is provided.	A	Implemented
1.7	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána conducts an analysis of crime hot- spots to identify priority areas for re-launching dormant schemes or developing new ones.	A	No specific action has been taken to address this recommendation and the Garda Síochána has assessed it as closed. As the recommendation has not been addressed and due to the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring.
1.8	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána reviews the provision of crime prevention advice on the Garda Website and seeks to adopt best international practice.  To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Promote crime prevention information that is available on the Garda Website.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented

Implementation Update of the Recommendations Contained in the Tenth Report of the Garda Síochána Inspectorate Crime Investigation

1.9	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána promotes property marking initiatives through local Neighbourhood Watch and Community Alert schemes and explores the application of DNA products. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: - Consider sponsorship opportunities.	A	Implemented
1.10	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána tasks garda analysts to conduct enhanced analysis of crime in respect of identifying trends in victims and developing activity to reduce victimisation rates.	A	Implemented
1.11	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána explores new technology opportunities for the use in prevention and detection of crime.	A	Although no specific action has been taken to address this recommendation, the Garda Síochána has assessed it as implemented. As the recommendation has not been addressed and due to the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring.
1.12	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána conducts analysis of call data on a divisional basis to identify the top places that generate demand for policing services and introduces initiatives to reduce the impact on local policing.	A	Due to the absence of specific action to address the recommendation and the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring
1.13	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána conducts a review of the use of anti- social behaviour legislation and ensures that the available powers are used effectively.	A	Implemented

1.14	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána designates Chief Superintendents to engage key strategic partners to address key issues that impact on all partner agencies and to develop joint plans to tackle local crime and disorder. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Ensure that Joint Policing Committees are fully engaged in crime prevention activity.</li> </ul>	A	This is part of the action plan for implementation of the report of the Commission of the Future of Policing in Ireland and will be subject to further monitoring.
2.1	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána implements a new divisional model of delivering policing services. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Develop a divisional approach to the deployment of detective units;</li> <li>- Create a single divisional intelligence hub;</li> <li>- Develop a single divisional administration unit and redeploy any additional resources to crime investigation or front-line policing services;</li> <li>- Develop a divisional approach to the deployment of regular units;</li> <li>- Develop a divisional approach for the deployment of specialist units i.e. drugs units, traffic and community policing;</li> <li>- Seek all opportunities to utilise police staff to release gardaí for operational roles.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented
2.2	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a bureaucracy taskforce on a national level that brings together representatives from divisions and specialist units to prioritise key actions for reducing unnecessary bureaucracy and waste of resources.	A	Implemented

2.3	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a new model of functionality for divisional superintendents. (See Delivery Divisional Model Functionality Responsibilities Chart 2.11) To achieve the above recommendation, the following actions need to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Establish key functional roles at the divisional level and appoint superintendents to fill these roles;</li> <li>- Appoint a detective superintendent or crime manager for each division, with responsibility for crime investigation and criminal justice issues;</li> <li>- Line management of all divisional detectives and other crime resources to be placed with the senior detective.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented
2.4	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a new model for posting people and particularly those on promotion. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Restrict the number of people that are forced to travel long distances;</li> <li>- Engage chief superintendents in selection processes for senior staff by creating role specific requirements for the post;</li> <li>- Allow chief superintendents to decide on the specific posting of superintendents and senior staff;</li> <li>- Succession planning for chief superintendents and superintendents should include a period of working alongside the incumbent officer;</li> <li>- Introduce minimum term tenure for chief superintendents and superintendents;</li> <li>- Develop a new approach to the posting and deployment of superintendents and other supervisors.</li> </ul>	A	This is part of the action plan for implementation of the report of the Commission of the Future of Policing in Ireland and will be subject to further monitoring.
2.5	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a visibility model for senior gardaí and a model for engagement with staff.	A	Due to the absence of specific action to address the recommendation and the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring

2.6	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a policing model that has at least one uniform inspector on duty in each division at all times. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Create new roles and responsibilities for inspectors.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented
2.7	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a policing model and that has at least one dedicated uniform patrol sergeant on duty in each division at all times. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Create new roles and responsibilities for patrol sergeants.</li> </ul>	A	No specific action has been taken to address this recommendation and the Garda Síochána has assessed it as closed. As the recommendation has not been addressed and due to the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring.
2.8	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a policing model that places detective inspectors under the line management of a divisional detective superintendent. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Update the roles and responsibilities of detective inspectors.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented

2.14	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a performance management system that holds individuals to account and deals with under performance.  To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken:                      - Take account of the Haddington Road Review recommendations.	A	Implemented

Implementation Update of the Recommendations Contained in the Tenth Report of the Garda Síochána Inspectorate Crime Investigation

3.1	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána implements a command and control system that accurately records calls for service and effectively identifies and uses all available resources to manage demand more efficiently.	A	Implemented
3.2	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána (i) allows only trained members to create and update live CAD messages and (ii) improves practices in non-CAD stations.	A	Implemented
3.3	The Inspectorate recommends a Department of Justice and Equality working group review the feasibility and impact of a single nonemergency number.	R	Rejected
3.4	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána rationalises the number of control rooms in operation and moves towards a small number of call centres.	A	Implemented
3.5	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a broader range of Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) incident assignment codes and ensures that divisions without CAD are accurately recording the type of incident and the full details of what has happened.	A	Implemented
3.6	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána provides an estimated time of arrival at the first point of contact and updates callers with details of undue delays in attendance.	A	While the Garda Síochána developed a call handling policy and assessed this recommendation as implemented, the policy shows that an ETA will only be provided if sought and not as a matter of course. As the recommendation has not been addressed and due to the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring.
3.7	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána introduces divisional data on call demand and performance data against Garda Charter targets for management review and action.	A	Implemented

Implementation Update of the Recommendations Contained in the Tenth Report of the Garda Síochána Inspectorate Crime Investigation

3.8	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána (i) grades all calls received from the public, (ii) records the time a unit is deployed, the time of arrival and the time a unit is finished with a call.	A	Implemented
3.9	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána implements minimum staffing levels for control rooms and ensures compliance.	A	Implemented
3.10	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána explores all opportunities to reallocate police support staff to control room duties, thereby releasing gardaí for front-line duties.	A	Implemented
3.11	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána implements a system of control room supervisors.	A	Implemented
3.12	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána immediately activates the portable radio and vehicle location systems.	A	Implemented
3.13	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána maintains the current CCTV links with any move to centralised call centres.	A	Rejected
3.14	The Inspectorate recommends that all Control Rooms have details of all operational units to allow for direct deployment to calls.	A	Implemented
3.15	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána fully utilises the skills and training provided to Reserves in an operational capacity. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: - Where a Reserve is assessed as competent, allow them to conduct independent patrol; - Where a Reserve is assessed as competent, provide them with the authority to enforce powers for which training was provided.	A	Implemented
3.16	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána: (i) Implement a resource management system that is fully integrated with CAD and any other management deployment system. (ii) In the interim, ensure that all available divisional and national unit staff book on and off with regional or divisional control rooms.	A	Implemented

Implementation Update of the Recommendations Contained in the Tenth Report of the Garda Síochána Inspectorate Crime Investigation

3.17	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána delivers awareness training to all call takers on the importance of gathering, recording and actioning information received during the first call.	A	Implemented
3.18	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a risk assessment process that identifies and relays important information that should be available to gardaí who are assigned to an incident.	A	Implemented
3.19	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána ensures that all gardaí notify a control room when they come across an incident directly and where that incident will require further action.	A	Implemented
3.20	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána improves the mobility of garda resources by developing mobile technology for use by gardaí and particularly for use in vehicles.	A	Implemented
3.21	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a Standard Operating Procedure based on the concept of ‘getting it right first time’.	A	Although some action has been taken it is not yet fully implemented and the Garda Síochána has assessed it as closed. As the recommendation has not been fully addressed and due to the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring.
3.22	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána reviews the role of first response and develops a new model of response policing.	A	Not implemented - action ongoing
3.23	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops new approaches to responding to calls for service, such as using appointment cars and burglary reporting units.	A	Rejected
3.24	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops new approaches in control rooms to ensure that members are pro-active to fast time information and crimes that are being reported.	A	Not implemented - action ongoing

3.25	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána creates and implements minimum standards of investigation for key crime types, including the volume offences of burglary, robbery, theft, domestic violence and assault reviewed in this report.	A	Implemented
3.26	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops new Standard Operating Procedures for Crime Scene Examiners (CSEs). To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Review the standard training for CSEs, and ensure consistency with international best practice;</li> <li>- Ensure that CSEs have appropriate equipment to retrieve evidence at crime scenes;</li> <li>- Provide better station facilities to allow examinations to be conducted in a professional manner;</li> <li>- Develop additional forensic databases such as tool and shoe marks;</li> <li>- Establish performance indicators for all CSEs;</li> <li>- Provide CSEs with continuous professional development;</li> <li>- Provide ongoing training for all gardaí on crime scene management.</li> </ul>	A	Due to the absence of specific action to address the recommendation and the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring
3.27	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána ensures a clear rationale is recorded as to why no PULSE incident number was created where CAD and paper records for calls suggest that a crime has taken place.	A	Implemented
3.28	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána ensures that CAD incidents are not closed without a PULSE incident number or in cases where there are outstanding actions or outstanding suspects.	A	Implemented
3.29	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develop a broader range of CAD incident result codes that accurately record the type of incident.	A	Implemented
3.30	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána audits public office facilities and improves their design to facilitate a more customer focussed environment.	A	Implemented

3.31	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána creates a Standard Operating Procedure for dealing with victims of crime. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Provide clear guidelines about when to record a formal statement of complaint;</li> <li>- Develop a standard national approach for follow-up enquiries with victims who have left a crime scene prior to the arrival of gardaí;</li> <li>- Promote the importance of the first interaction with a victim of crime.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented
3.32	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána introduce a National Standard for Incident Recording. (Long term). In the interim, the following key action needs to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Appoint a lead/champion for incident recording standards (See Part 5 recommendation for crime recording).</li> </ul>	A	Implemented
4.1	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops additional categories and sub-categories on PULSE that provide better data descriptions of key crime types and non-crime types.	AM	Implemented
4.2	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a new national crime investigation/records management system that records all information and actions taken relating to the investigation of a crime. This system must be compatible with new CAD and resource management systems as recommended in Part 3.	A	Not implemented - action ongoing
4.3	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána informs the Garda Information Service Centre (GISC) of any non-sensitive operations that will require additional GISC assistance.	A	Implemented
4.4	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána designates one senior manager as the lead for both crime counting rules and the Garda Information Service Centre.	A	Implemented

4.5	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána increases the number of mandatory fields on PULSE, (nationality, GPS etc.), to ensure more information is obtained to provide greater accuracy in PULSE incident recording. For this to take place, the Garda Síochána must: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Consult with Garda Síochána Analysis Service (GSAS) and the Central Statistics Office (CSO) to determine what mandatory fields are necessary to support accurate details for crime data and analysis.</li> </ul>	R	Rejected
4.6	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána enforces the policy for members to contact GISC from the location of an incident to create a PULSE report, rather than contacting GISC at the end of a tour of duty. To achieve the above recommendation, the following action needs to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Resolve the issue of garda radios terminating contact to GISC after a certain length of time.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented
4.7	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána enforces the policy that all divisions achieve a minimum of a 95% compliance rate for using GISC to create PULSE incidents.	A	Due to the absence of specific action to address the recommendation and the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring
4.8	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána enforces compliance with the policy that all PULSE crime incidents are recorded as soon as possible and in any case within a tour of duty.	A	Implemented
4.9	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána creates dropdown menus or other prompts to assist GISC call takers in obtaining appropriate investigative details to ensure the right crime classification is created at the time of the initial call from a garda. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Develop quality assurance processes, inclusive of supervisory review, to ensure that crimes are correctly recorded.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented

4.10	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána immediately establishes policy that prohibits the changing of narratives and any other records on the PULSE system. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Develop an IT solution to prevent the ability to change original narratives or other records on the PULSE system;</li> <li>- Create PULSE tabs for all PULSE record changes, including updates, which include the name of the member making the changes, and the time and date that changes were made.</li> </ul>	AM	Implemented
4.11	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána takes action to improve the quality of the PULSE narratives. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Explore opportunities to increase the narrative character field in the PULSE system;</li> <li>- Improve narrative recording through development of clear guidelines and minimum information requirements for narratives and other records generated in the PULSE system;</li> <li>- Improve the quality of PULSE records with timely incident recording and updates on crime investigations;</li> <li>- Ensure that any updates to a PULSE incident record clearly articulate what updates occurred and why.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented

Implementation Update of the Recommendations Contained in the Tenth Report of the Garda Síochána Inspectorate Crime Investigation

4.12	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána audits PULSE to determine the level and scope of change of PULSE information records after their initial creation. To achieve the above recommendation, the following needs to be audited: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Changes to any of the following fields after initial entry: PULSE narrative; Individual intelligence records (fields to include name, date of birth and vehicle registration numbers); Court sentences; Warrants; Specific crime types or incidents types where changes are more prevalent, such as the volume crime offences identified in this report.</li> <li>- Staff who have repeated actions of changing PULSE information records.</li> </ul>	A	This was a high-risk area identified during the inspection but no audit has been conducted. The Garda Síochána has assessed the recommendation as closed. As the recommendation has not been addressed and due to the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring.
4.13	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops and circulates policy clearly defining the roles and responsibilities of GISC and front-line supervisors in respect of classification of crimes and supervision of the initial investigation of a crime or other incident. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key area needs to be addressed: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- A PULSE record must contain a mandatory supervisory approval/review field to capture supervision and review of the PULSE records by front-line supervisors.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented
4.14	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána directs that all information and updates regarding criminal investigations are recorded on PULSE rather than on paper memoranda.	A	Implemented
4.15	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána institutes security standards for the access and review of PULSE records, using an IT security solution, such as levels of access rights, to prevent unauthorised and unofficial access to PULSE records.	A	While no action has been taken to implement the recommendation, the nature of the recommendation has determined that it will still be subject to further monitoring

Implementation Update of the Recommendations Contained in the Tenth Report of the Garda Síochána Inspectorate Crime Investigation

4.16	The Inspectorate recommends that the Central Statistics Office should receive all PULSE record incident data including non-crime categories to facilitate analysis and reporting of crime statistics.	A	Implemented
4.17	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána establishes a target for GISC to review PULSE incidents within 72 hours of the initial report.	A	Implemented
4.18	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána creates a robust internal governance practice by establishing a Standard Operating Procedure for PULSE record entries and their audit and review. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Create a quality assurance process to evaluate the crime classification decisions of GISC Reviewers;</li> <li>- Introduce control measures to reduce the number of review/clarifications that are currently generated;</li> <li>- Develop an IT solution, such as a prompt on the Garda Síochána Portal, to inform a member and their supervisor that there is a PULSE review/clarification pending;</li> <li>- Stop the practice of using PULSE to recognise good work;</li> <li>- Ensure that GISC reviews and review/ clarification requests remain open, visible and accessible to GISC;</li> <li>- Develop a mandatory completion requirement in the PULSE information record system for all GISC review/ clarification requests.</li> </ul>	A	Implemented
4.19	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána designates GISC to be the final decision maker in the classification of a crime or an incident.	A	Implemented
5.1	The Inspectorate recommends that divisions hold a daily accountability meeting that is structured and reviews incidents and crimes on a divisional basis to ensure appropriate action and tasking.	AM	Implemented

5.2	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána develops a crime screening process with established solvability factors.	AM	Due to the absence of specific action to address the recommendation and the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring
5.3	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána establishes a crime management unit model on a divisional basis. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: - Development of operating protocols for all crime management units.	A	No action has been taken to develop a crime management model and the Garda Síochána has assessed the recommendation as closed. As the recommendation has not been addressed and due to the extended passage of time, it will not be subject to further monitoring.
5.4	The Inspectorate recommends that the Department of Justice and Equality initiate a process, in which the CSO should have a central role, towards the development of new Crime Counting Rules.	R	Rejected by Expert Group
5.5	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána publishes policy establishing the roles and responsibilities of all staff in regard to the reclassification and invalidation of PULSE incident records, with GISC having the final decision authority. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: - Allow GISC full PULSE incident access, including the ability to view records that are reclassified or invalidated.	A	Implemented
5.6	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána introduces a system of Dedicated Decision Makers on a divisional basis. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key action needs to be taken: - Develop policy that requires members to obtain Dedicated Decision Maker approval prior to any request for reclassification or invalidation of a PULSE incident record.	A	Implemented

5.7	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána introduces National Crime Recording Standards.	A	Implemented
5.8	The Inspectorate recommends that the Garda Síochána introduce a Force Crime Registrar (FCR) with responsibility for the accuracy and integrity of the recording of incidents, crimes and detections. To achieve the above recommendation, the following key actions need to be taken: - The FCR needs to be outside of operational line command; - Subject to any selection process, an interim FCR should be immediately appointed.	AM	Implemented
